Galloway Township, NJ - South Jersey comedian Michelle Tomko will perform at Comedy Night on Thursday, Jan. 15 at Kramer Hall, the instructional site of The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

Michelle Tomko is a regular guest for all of Hammonton's Third Thursdays, and Kramer Hall's Comedy Night is part of this month's Third Thursday theme, "Girls Night Out." She pulls her humor from everyday observations and classic stories of family, travel, pets and adversity.

Tomko has performed at Atlantic City's former Showboat casino in Tony and Tina's Wedding and Finnegan's Wake, and at Resorts Casino Hotel in Michelle Tomko "I Won Nothing." The event was awarded to her for winning the Pro Bar Finds A Star competition in Atlantic City. She has also had a radio show on Cruisin 92.1 WVLT in Vineland.

Tomko received a BFA from Kent State University. Following that she was a member of the apprentice company at the Actor Theatre of Louisville. Unfortunately, according to her, the majority of her post-graduate roles included the line, "Fries with that?"

The public is invited to see Tomko perform her stand-up comedy about every half-hour beginning at 6 p.m. on the 15th at Kramer Hall, 30 Front St. in downtown Hammonton, NJ. Tomko will also mingle and answer questions from the audience after her performances. Light refreshments will be served.
